“ALEKSANDËR XHUVANI”

The Faculty of Education Sciences, University of Elbasan “Aleksandër Xhuvani”, announces the first call for participation and collaboration in the 5th International Conference “Globalization and Integration in Contemporary Education,” which will be held on 20 November 2026 in Elbasan.

Rapid technological transformations, the digitalization of society, artificial intelligence, and social change have brought new challenges for the education system in Albania and beyond. Contemporary education is facing the need to develop new skills, such as critical thinking, digital competencies, online safety, emotional intelligence, and the ability to adapt to continuous change.

In Albania, the process of modernizing education is closely linked to European integration, the development of technology in schools and universities, and the need to build safer, more inclusive, and more innovative educational institutions. At the same time, challenges such as the uncontrolled use of social networks, bullying and cyberbullying, mental health problems among young people, school safety, disinformation, and the impact of technology on the psychological development of children and adolescents call for new interdisciplinary approaches and coordinated policies.
