

First Scientific Conference on Mathematics and Physics and their application

At the University of Elbasan, the First Scientific Conference on Mathematics and Physics and their application was organized. The purpose of this conference was to bring together lecturers, researchers, and academics from around the country and the world, to share presentations, discussions, perspectives, and their achievements in their respective fields. For two consecutive days, this conference served not only as a forum to share the results of their research work but also for students, who had the opportunity to deepen their knowledge.

10th International Scientific Conference

The Faculty of Economics at the University of Elbasan, held the 10th International Scientific Conference entitled "Modern research and trends in law, economy, and social policy." This jubilee conference, which has become a tradition in this faculty, brings together researchers from different countries, also coincides with important anniversary dates for the University of Elbasan. In his welcome address, Rector Prof. dr. Skender Topi emphasized the accomplishments and significance of organizing activities of common interest, the expansion of projects and collaborations within the framework of scientific research, and the support of any initiative focusing on the student and academic world. All of these factors have contributed to the institution's ranking as one of the most important in the country.

Albanian-American Development Fund

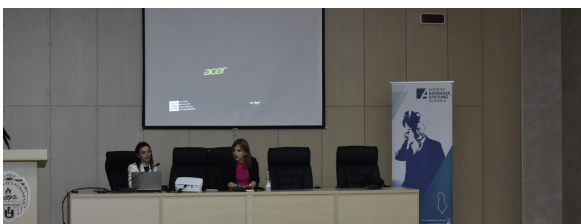

At the University of Elbasan, an information session was organized by the Albanian-American Development Fund (AADF). In the organized meeting, it was discussed with lecturers and students about the programs in the field of education, the open call for applications of the MIP Internship program, the application procedures in the "READ" program, as well as the innovations of the "CleanScore" project, for this academic year.

Round table at the Faculty of Technical Medical Sciences

The first round table on health and safety at work was held at the Faculty of Medical and Technical Sciences as part of the European Week for Safety and Health at Work, with the slogan "Healthy Workplace, Lighten the Load." Through a practical demonstration by the Elbasan Red Cross, those present discussed the importance of safety and health at work, guaranteeing and respecting the legislation, as well as the importance of providing first aid.

Training with the student of the study program in Law

The training is organized in the Faculty of Economics within the project "Strengthening Capacity for the Protection of Private and Family Life in Albania." In the framework of the project "Strengthening the capacities for the protection of private and family life in Albania," the European Center, with the support of the Konrad Adenauer Foundation, Office for Albania, developed with the students of the study program in law at the Faculty of Economics, the training related to private and family law, seen from the national and international aspect of this right.

Institute for Democracy and Mediation

The Institute for Democracy and Mediation presented at the Faculty of Economics of the University of Elbasan the study prepared on internal democracy in Albanian political parties. Representatives of this institute share with the students the findings, opinions, and conclusions of the study, analyzing the history and progress of the main parties in the country. This study, funded by the Hanns Seidel Foundation, Office for Albania, aims to bring together researchers, students, and civil society activists to discuss the role and effects of political party democracy in society and in public decision-making as a whole.